10063. Soldier’s Richest Man Passes Away. On Friday morning at 9:00 o’clock, James E. Foster passed away at his home in Soldier. Having been a great sufferer for the past three months …. James Ervin Foster was born at Huntington, Lorain county, Ohio, on March 1st, 1837, age 80 years and ten months. On February 25th 1865 he enlisted in Co. B, 184, Ohio, V. I. and served until September 25th of the same year. In 1869 he came to Kansas and settled on a farm northwest of Soldier. Later he moved to town and has made this his home. Mr. Foster was a peculiar man, one that was especially far seeing in financial matters. He accumulated a fortune, and his advice was sought by many. It is not known what disposition he made of his property. He leaves two sisters and a brother and a number of nephews and nieces. The Soldier Clipper, January 2, 1918.

Harvey G. Foster came all the way from the Pacific coast to visit his uncle. He arrived in Holton Saturday and upon his arrival, learned that his uncle, James E. Foster, of Soldier, had died several years ago and that he is one of the heirs to the Foster estate. Harvey G. made his uncle a visit about ten years ago, but since that time his whereabouts has been unknown, although the other heirs to said estate have made diligent efforts to get into communication with him. The estate has been administered upon and the share belonging to Harvey G. Foster and his sister, Lulu May Dye amounts to the sum of about $12,000. Mrs. Dye has received her share of about six thousand dollars and her brother’s share in a like amount is in the hands of Probate Judge and Clerk of the District Court for him. In case Harvey G. had not married and had died before his uncle’s decease, his sister would have been entitled to the whole amount as heir of her uncle, and in case he had died afterwards, she would be entitled to his share as heir. There is a legal presumption that when a person has not been heard of in ten years and his whereabouts cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry, that he is dead, and acting upon this presumption, Mrs. Dye, on the 14th day of July brought and action in the District Court to recover the amount that was held in trust for her brother and the time to answer the petition expired on Monday of this week, August 30th. The Holton Signal, September 2, 1920.

10064. Jacob Drennen was born at Harrison, Virginia, Aug. 7, 1833, and departed this life Dec. 26, 1917 aged 84 years, 4 months and 19 days. He was married to Rebecca F. Reynolds of Cordova, Ill. in 1858 and to this union were born three daughters, the youngest, Katherine, dying in infancy. His companion preceded him in death on May 14, 1913. Before coming to Soldier, Kansas, in 1894, the deceased had lived in Princeton, Iowa and Cordova, Ill. He enlisted in the 47th Ill. Infantry in 1864 and served until the war was closed. He leaves to mourn his loss his two daughters, Mrs. O. I. Reynolds and Mrs. Thos Gilliland, four grand children and one great grandchild. He was a member of the Christian church, having united in Cordova, Ill. in the year of 1858 …. The Soldier Clipper, January 2, 1918.

10066. Jack Dunn was born in Atchison County, Mo., Sept. 22, 1895. At about two years of age, his parents moved to Kansas and the greater part of his life was spent in and around Holton. After war was declared last spring, he enlisted on Co. B at Holton. On August 5th, all members of Co. B. were called to Holton, and they were encamped there for nearly two months. They were then taken to Fort Sill, Okla., for more strenuous training. On December 5th, he was operated on for appendicitis and seemed to be getting along alright, when he contracted pneumonia and died Dec. 19, 1917, aged 22 years, 2 months and 27 days. His parents went to Fort Sill, but failed to get there before he died. His body was brought home and laid to rest in the Adrian cemetery …. He leaves to mourn his early death a mother, father, two sisters and six brothers … One sister and one brother preceded him to the better land. All the members of his family were present at the funeral. One brother came from Glenwood, Iowa, another from Lincoln, Kan. The rest reside in Jackson county. Five of his brothers, with one cousin, were pall bears …. The Holton Recorder, January 3, 1918.

Topeka Capital.] Word has been received in Topeka of the death of E. L. Stalker, step-father of the world’s heavyweight pugilistic champion, Jess Willard, at the home of a daughter in Delia, Kan. Mr. Stalker had been for a number of years a resident of Quinton Heights … helping in establishing the Quinton Heights Baptist church nine or ten years ago. Long before the present heavyweight champion was born, Mr. Stalker and Jess’ father lived on adjoining farms in Adrian, a small town located on the edge of the Pottawatomie reservation. Jess’ father died a short time after the present champion was born, and when Jess was 11 years old, his mother and Mr. Stalker married. Jess and his mother then went to live on the Stalker farm. Jess was raised there and it was while there he acquired his great skill at “bronco busting” and “roping,” which in later years meant great sums of money for him on the vaudeville stage. Mrs. Stalker died in 1908. Mr. Stalker came to Topeka many years ago, and when his step-son was battling against the big black, Jack Johnson, April 5, 1915, for the heavyweight championship of the world, (although being strongly apposed to prize fights, he nevertheless kept in close touch with the local newspaper offices, and when he learned that Jess had won by a knockout in the twenty-sixth round, it is safe to say that there was not a prouder man in Topeka. According to the information received here, Mr. Stalker died last Tuesday at the age of 86 …. The Holton Recorder, 2047.

Frank J. Lysek was born in Jackson County, Kansas, October 4, 1894. He being the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lysek who resided south-east of Delia until after the death of the father which occurred in 1902 at his home. His mother moved to Delia some two years hence and he lived with his mother until recently when he leased the farm east of Delia. Married Miss Tracy Kovar, January 26, 1918. He lived here until his life was extinguished May 17, 1918. He leaves a wife, mother, one brother, two sisters, three step-brothers, and three step-sisters, one of the step sisters had preceded him some years previous. Services were held at the home of his father-in-law Sunday. He was laid to rest in the Moravain cemetery.

The Holton Signal, May 30, 1918.

Frank Lysek, a farmer living between Hoyt and Delia in Jackson county, died at 5 o’clock Friday afternoon in St. Francis hospital, the result of a self-inflicted gun shot wound. At 9 o’clock Friday morning Lloyd D. Uhl, turned the twelve gauge shot gun on himself immediately after the shooting. Trouble concerning Uhl’s wife is given as the cause of the shooting. Lysek married Miss Tressie Kovar last February. Uhl was married at the time and his wife had been an old sweetheart of Lysek’s, according to the coroner. Lysek continued paying attention to Uhl’s wife … the men met in a field near the Lysek home in the morning. Then they went to the Lysek home where Lysek obtained a shotgun … and there from a distance, estimated by the coroner to be 100 feet, shot and killed Uhl. The bullet entered near the right eye, tearing off the right ear. Lysek’s wife was at the home of Thurman Banta, where a baby had died a short time before. Lysek called his wife over the telephone and informed her that he had shot Uhl. He asked her to hurry home. Neighbors heard the second report. They found Lysek’s body lying halfway between the house and gate. Lysek had leased the 320 acre farm and had sub-leased a part of it to Uhl. Lysek was 23 years of age and Uhl, 22. Uhl had a baby about a year ago. He was married three years ago. A brother of Uhl stated that he knew the men had trouble dating back about three years ago but didn’t know just what it was about. - Topeka State Journal.

In re Sergeant Stanley, 1447713, Elmer, Co. B, 137th Inf., Hq. Co B 137th Inf. Bouloive, Sartha, France, March 24, 1919. Mr. H. S. Hancuff, Chariton, Iowa. Dear Sir, In re to your letter of inquiry relative to the present stasis of your grandson, Elmer Stanley, I am able to furnish you with the following data: Sergeant Elmer Stanley was last seen alive by Sgt. Joe Guier on Sept. 28, 1918, near Montrebeau Woods. He had been seriously wounded in the legs and hips. Guier asked him what he could do for him, Elmer asked him for a drink. He was not able to help himself. Guier held the canteen to his lips as he drank. Elmer told Guier that he would be alright until the litter bearers came up. As Guier was wounded he left for the rear. Many shells were lighting on the field. On March 2nd, a party of officers and non-commissioned officers of this company visited the scene of the battle near Baulney and Apermount and located the graves of our fallen comrades. We found the grave of Elmer Stanley 1447713, at a point about a quarter of a mile north and east of the village of Apermount, at the western edge of the Montrebeau Woods. This grave is one of a group of twenty-six. A picture was taken of the lot by Corpl. Dwight C. Bushy, and we hope to develop this picture soon after our return to our home station. I have in my possession a map of Buzzancy, on which I have the spot marked. Your grandson, Elmer Stanley, was an excellent soldier, his work with B Company was credible to himself and family. His life and death has done a part in the greatest of all wars. He was killed in perhaps the fiercest battle of the world war, the Argonne Verdun offensive. His platoon was advancing into Montrebeau Woods when Elmer was hit by fragments of a bursting shell. In this action, which lasted about four hours, eighty-four men of the company were killed or wounded. We are on our way home. We hope to reach our home station in May. No doubt before this letter reaches you, you will be in receipt of a definite report, which was forwarded to Sgt. Stanley’s mother. If you wish to communicate further with me, you may find me at Norcatur, Kansas, care A. L. Hare. I am yours truly, Calvin J. Hodgen, 1st Sgt, Co. B, 137th Inf. This is not an official letter, but it seems as if it were true. Mrs. Chas. Stanley. 618 Garden St., St. Joseph, Mo. The Holton Recorder, April 17, 1919.

10808. John Hainline, a farmer living a mile east of Hoyt, committed suicide at 11 o’clock last Friday morning by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun. Ill health, together with worrying over the settling of his estate, is believed to have caused him to take his life. He walked out of the home with his shotgun, telling his sister he was going to hunt squirrels. A few yards away from his back porch he put his head against the muzzle, of the gun and pulled the trigger with a stick. He died instantly. Mr. Hainline lived on his farm near Hoyt over thirty years … He was 61 years old …. The evidence of suicide was so conclusive that an inquest was not necessary. The Holton Recorder, August 21, 1919.

…. The controversy in the partition suit is substantially as follows: After his father’s death the children deeded to the widow the home farm, which she in turn deeded to John. The widow has since died and the brothers claim that the deed did not pass title to John because it was never delivered. John also claimed that another farm was purchased jointly by himself and brother and deed was taken in his brother’s name and that he was owner of a half interest in the property left by his brother at the time of his death, which is denied by the other heirs … it is probable that Mr. Hainline worried over the litigation to such an extent that his mind became unbalanced … The Holton Signal, August 21, 1919.

Tom Vaught is dead, a victim of a rifle shot through the head, fired by his own hand. Tuesday night, Mr. Vaught and his fourteen-year-old son Russell went to bed in their cottage on the Marcus Bryant farm, southwest of town, where they were employed. In the middle of the night Russell awakened and found his father missing from the bed. He fell asleep again. In the morning Russell arose and his father was still absent. He went into the kitchen and discovered his father lying on the floor, a rifle across his breast. A bullet hole showed in his temple. Tom Vaught was discouraged and brooded over his condition and told his son the afternoon before that he would not be here long. The suicide was premeditated. Some time ago Mr. Vaught lost his wife. His children were scattered, two of the girls being in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keller. Mr. Vaught was a good man and well liked in the community …. The Holton Recorder, May 20, 1920.

The death of Case Broderick [Photograph] occurred at his home in Holton last Thursday morning …. Judge Case Broderick was born on a farm in Grant County, Indiana, September 23, 1839. He was the youngest of a family of five children of Samuel and Mary Broderick. His father was Irish and his mother German. In early boyhood he removed with his parents to western Indiana, where they settled on a farm. He attended the common schools of that new and sparsely settled country. He came to Kansas Territory in the fall of 1858, traveling by rail through Illinois to eastern Iowa, the then terminus of the railway, where he purchased a horse and equipment and traveled horseback to the Missouri river. At this point he disposed of his horse and made his way on foot to Douglass township, Calhoun county (changed to Jackson county on February 11, 1859,) Kansas where he made his home with Stephan J. Elliott, whom he had known in Indiana …. Broderick was opposed to slavery and at once became identified with the free state party … Mr. Broderick, being ambitious to own a farm, soon purchased a tract of land and commenced some improvements, but having no money and little experience, the farm when started was not a model …. In August, 1860, Mr. Broderick was married to Mary Anne Ewbank, daughter of Benjamin and Anne Ewbank, of Dearborn County, Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Broderick were the parents of six children, three sons and three daughters. Mrs. Broderick died in November, 1888 …. In 1861 Messrs. Elliott and Broderick secured from a Leavenworth company of overland government freighters, a sub-contract for the transportation of corn across the plains to a northwestern military post …. Messrs. Elliott and Broderick, with the co-operation of some friends and neighbors, organized and equipped an ox-train of eighteen wagons. The train was loaded in Atchison county and the trip safely made to Fort Laramie, Wyoming, where the freight was delivered to the government. The Indians of the northwest were becoming hostile and the return trip was fraught with danger. Owing to the restlessness of the red men, the shipping enterprise for the next year was abandoned. Thoughout the trip, herds of buffalo, which roamed the plains, were often seen. In the fall of 1862, Mr. Broderick enlisted at Fort Scott, Kansas, as a private soldier in the 2nd Kansas Battery, organized by Colonel Charles W. Blair. He served in the army of the frontier under Major-Generals Blunt and Thayer. He was mustered out of the service at Leavenworth, Kansas, in August, 1865, and returned to his farm in Jackson county. In 1868 he was elected probate judge of the county; served a few years in that capacity and also in the capacity of county attorney. He had studied law and was admitted to the bar in Holton, in 1870; was chosen and served one term as mayor of Holton and in 1880 was elected state senator to represent Jackson and Pottawatomie counties in the legislature. In the Senate he served on the judiciary and temperance committees and was chairman of the committee on federal relations. As a member of the committee on temperance, he assisted in framing the first prohibition statute of the state. In March 1884, Mr. Broderick was appointed by President Arthur as associate justice of the superior court of Idaho Territory … He served several months after the expiration of his term before being relieved. Returning to Holton, Kansas, in the fall of 1888, he became associated with his former partner, Mr. E. E. Rafter, and his young friend, R. G. Robinson, in the practice of law. In December, 1888 assisted in the organization of the State Bank of Holton and was one of its first directors. In 1890 Mr. Broderick was elected as a Republican to represent the 1st Kansas Congressional District in the 52nd congress; by re-election he was continued as a member of the 53rd, 54th and 55th congresses. In congress he served on the judiciary, territorial and public printing committees, and charge of some important measures before the committee … one of which was the anti-lottery bill which became law and stamped out a wide spread and growing evil. After his service in congress, Mr. Broderick returned to Holton, and resumed his law business, forming a partnership with DeVere Rafter, son of a former partner, E. E. Rafter. Upon retiring from the law practice, he devoted his time to looking out after farm and livestock interests … In 1908 he was chosen one of the presidential elector for Kansas … He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and of the Grand Army of the Republic …. While not a member, Judge Broderick was an attendant and a liberal supporter of the Methodist church …. Judge Broderick’s farm consisted of several hundred acres of fine land near Hoyt …. He leaves … three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Pettijohn, of Hoyt and Messes Jane and Frances of Holton, and three sons, W. L. of Douglas township; Frank of Holton, and Charles.

it unnecessary to bind the lumber to the wagon and in going down a steep incline the load slipped forward onto the horses, throwing Mr. Taylor to the ground. One leg was fractured and internal injuries were sustained of a fatal nature …. Omak, (Washington) Chronicle. The Holton Recorder, April 29, 1919.

11084. Soldier Valley. Mrs. Nettie Bean and Miss Gertrude Bolen went to Horton last Tuesday to attend the funeral of their cousin Oscar Bolen. Oscar spent part of his childhood in this part: he enlisted with Co. B. and was in the battle of the Argonne forest. The funeral was conducted by the American Legion. The Holton Recorder, April 29, 1919.

The many friends of Oscar Bolen were startled and grieved to learn of his sudden death shortly before noon Monday. He had come home from Omaha, where he had been working a few days before with what seemed to be no more than a mere cold. He grew steadily worse, soon lapsed into unconsciousness and even his relatives are at a loss to account for the evident injury to his brain which undoubtedly caused his death, unless it was the result of some accident in his army service. Oscar Bolen was the first of the ex-servicemen of this community to die since the war. More than that he was one of the original members of Company B, who served both on the Mexican border and through the World War …. Oscar Charleton Bolen was born near Holton, in Jackson county, Kans., on March 26, 1898 and died at Horton April 19, 1920, aged 22 years and 24 days. He spent the most of his life in Horton … united with the Horton Baptist church. He was a member of the National Guard and served on the Mexican border with Company B of Horton. He was mustered into federal service, on August 5, 1917 in company B, 137th infantry, was quartered at Ft. Sill, Okla., six months in training and in January 1918, he was sent over seas where he was transferred to the 19th Engineer Corps. There he served 18 months and was discharged at Ft. Dodge, Ia., on August 19, 1919. He has not been in good health since his return from the service, but his final sickness was confined to his bed only four days.
Death was caused by inflammation of the brain. He leaves to mourn his loss, his father and mother,
Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bolen of Horton, and five brothers and two sisters - Alvin of Waneta, Ks., Roscoe, Helen, and Ruby of Omaha, Neb., and Thurston, Ivan and Jerome of Horton …. Horton

He departed this life at his home in Holton, Kan., Saturday, May 8, 1920, his age being 53 years, 3 months and 6 days. The Hardin family moved from the state of Illinois and settled near Alexandria, Nebraska, in the year 1873. When he was but two years old, his father was killed in an accident, while working in the lumber region of Wisconsin. Among Mr. Hardin’s near relatives, he had one full brother, William, who lived until he was 13 years old. There are two half sisters and two half brothers, Mrs. Edith Stearns of Fall City, Nebraska; Mrs. Mabel Cloyd, of Alexandria, Nebraska; Mrs. Fred Hewitt of Madison, South Dakota, and Mr. Albert Hewitt, of Plessis, Iowa. His sister Edith and brother Albert were present. His mother died August 18, 1893. When he was a young man of 22 years of age, he left his home community in Nebraska and went to Hiawatha, Kansas, where he lived a period of fourteen years. He was employed by the mercantile firm of Bierer and Shadel, and later opened an art store as his own business venture. Mr. Hardin was united in marriage to Miss Sallie Lamme at Hiawatha, November 12, 1893. It was during his residence in Hiawatha that he converted to Christ and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Hardin moved to Holton during the summer of 1903, where they have resided until the present time …. Although he was denied the pleasure of having children in his immediate family, he was especially fond of children and young people. For many years he had the happiness of caring for the children of others in his family. Among them were his youngest sister Mabel, an orphan boy, Earl Thomas, a niece, Ruth Lamme was in his home for five years and a nephew, Harold Lamme, also attended school, staying at the Hardin home for four years …. Zack Montayne, a son of son-in-law of I. P. Belden, of Whiting, recently was brutally murdered near Seldon, Kan., by a man named Wilson, who was his landlord. Montayne was a man about 35 years of age, and is survived by his wife and two small children. The Colby Tribune has the following to say about the murder: “Montayne had been a tenant on the Wilson farm, three miles south of Selden, and Wilson, either having sold the place or wishing to get possession himself, had been trying to eject Montayne. There seemed to have been some differences over notes and money alleged to have been due Wilson. There were no witnesses to the killing or to the action of the men immediately proceeding the tragedy. Wilson at one time made the statement that Montayne attacked him with a club, we hear. In all, four shots were fired, one passing through the head from temple to temple, one entering the back and ranging upward through the body. The other two shots caused minor wounds. A neighbor, hearing the shots and seeing Montayne’s team running away, hurried to the scene, but Wilson, if he was the killer had disappeared. He was soon apprehended and held at Selden until the sheriff arrived to take him to Hoxie.” .... The Holton Recorder, June 17, 1920.

We wish to correct a mistake of last week’s issue, which stated that Zach Montayne was killed by his landlord. He resided on his own farm, which he purchased before moving here four years ago, and had lived on no other. He was at home, only a few yards from his barn, when he was shot by a man named Wilson. The note in question had been paid, as Wilson had it in his possession at the time of the shooting, the note and check in payment thereof. Montayne was apparently not trying to harm Wilson, as is evidenced by the fact that all four shots entered the back. He fell on his face. It was the hired hand who was the first to witness the scene of the murder .... Mr. Montayne is survived by his wife and four children. The Holton Recorder, June 24, 1920.

He was the oldest of a family of eleven children, seven brothers and three sisters. At the age of four he came with his parents to the state of Missouri and settled near the town of Hannibal. They resided here about two years, when they again moved westward and located in Decatur county, Iowa, where they lived about three years. Here he attended his first school, which was taught by Mrs. Thamer. The school house was a log cabin covered with shakes. The cracks were neither chinked or daubed so school was only held during warm weather. The family then moved to Camden Point, Mo. This village boasted of two academies, one of which was conducted as a private enterprise, which he attended. It was while living here that he enjoyed the pleasures of “the old swimming hole,” as pictured by James Whitcomb Riley. He indulged in this sport at the age of eighty. He was one of the early pioneers coming to Calhoun county, now Jackson county, in 1856, and located five miles north of Holton. Here the parents spent the remainder of their lives. He remained at home, following the peaceful pursuit of farming, till August 28, 1862, when he enlisted at Holton in company B, 11th Regiment, Kansas Inf. This regiment was occupied along the Kansas border, also in Missouri and Arkansas, and did considerable scouting and skirmishing. They participated in the campaign against Gen. Price and took part in the battles of West Port, Cain Hill, Prairie Grove, and Mine Creek. During the last six months of his service his regiment was sent against the hostile Sioux and Cheyenne Indians, going as far west as Fort Laramie, Wyoming. They then returned to Fort Leavenworth, where they were mustered out … Mr. Porterfield was honorably discharged on the 30th of August, 1865. He then returned home and engaged in farming and teaching. With a number of his young companions he purposed his heart to lead the religious life during a revival meeting, conducted by Rev. H. D. Healy, at the Elliott school house in the winter of 1867. On October 17, of the same year, he was united in marriage to Mary Ann Russell, by the Rev. J. A. Woodburn. To them were born ten children, four boys and six girls, all of whom were present at the funeral service: Dora, Virginia, Chas. W., Robert, Frank and Gaius of Holton; Will C., of Topeka; Mrs. Grace Mitchell of Esbon; Mrs. Flossie Linville, of Greeley, Colo., and Burt R., of Powell, Wyo. In the fall of 1875 he was elected to the office of county clerk and twice re-elected, serving in all, three terms. Retiring from the farm, Mr. Porterfield and his wife moved to Holton in the fall of 1906. Mrs. Porterfield enjoyed their new home but a short time, having passed away in 1911. Mr. Porterfield continued his residence here until the time of his death. Besides his children, he leaves 12 grandchildren, three brothers, John of California; Milton and Robert of Holton, and two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Little of Holton and Mrs. Martha E. High, of Dalngerfield, Texas …. Burial was in the Holton cemetery. The Holton Recorder, September 23, 1920.

11197. This community was saddened on Thursday morning to learn of the passing of one of its oldest pioneers, and most useful citizens, Robert Preston Hamm. [Photograph] The soul of this beloved father began its pilgrimage on earth Nov. 27, 1831, in a little country home among the hills of Flemming county, Kentucky, where he was raised to manhood among a family of eleven children, five brothers and six sisters, three of whom he leaves behind to mourn his loss and cherish his memory. On August 31, 1854, Susan Ann Million became his life-long companion and helpmate, and together they have journeyed for over sixty-six years in joyful companionship. To them were born seven children, Lille Belle (who died at two years of age); Cora L., now wife of J. A. Pierce; Dee Ella, now Mrs. Bishop; Barbara Ellen, now Mrs. A. Abel; Melville Grant, Mattie Eva, now Mrs. J. A. Martiens, and Robert H., all living in this community. In his young manhood he felt the call of the west for men to build a noble state. At twenty-one years of age he pushed out from the home scenes and began for himself at Chaney’s Grove, Ill., where he spent two years, returning to Kentucky to be married. Here they spent three years, but the climate did not agree with Mrs. Hamm, and they started overland to the territory of Kansas. The wife stopped in Missouri for the winter of 1857, while he pushed on and took a claim five miles west of Holton, which has been their old home ever since. The wife, with two their children, came in the spring of 1858, and they lived on the farm until Nov. 7, 1904, when they moved to Holton, leaving the farm in the care of their two sons. In 1852 he united with the M. E. church and began a life of service to his fellow man … He assisted in organizing the first Sunday school and M. E. class in Jackson county, or in fact this part of Kansas, at Banner in 1858, which has never died. In 1859 he was licensed to preach and for 30 years, until health forbid, he went far and near, preaching and burying the dead, organizing new churches and strengthening the older ones … he was a self supporting missionary - worked six days on the farm and rode from 10 to 40 miles on Sunday to meet his appointments …. When the Civil war broke out he tried to enlist at three times, but was rejected …. Later when General Price threatened to raid Kansas, he joined the “Kansas Tads” and saw active service in repulsing his raid. The script he received as his pay has never been presented for payment, as he held he went out to protect and build Kansas …. He leaves his aged companion, six children, eight grandchildren and six great grandchildren ….

Elmira Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cook, was born in the state of Tennessee, Sept. 21, 1826. She moved to Missouri with her parents and settled in Platte county. Here she met and later married Jesse E. Elliott on May 3, 1846, and continued to reside in Missouri for about ten years. In the fall of 1855, Mr. Elliott in company with a number of his neighbors, came across the Missouri river and located a claim north of where Holton now stands. In the spring these men returned to Missouri and brought their families to their new homes, where they converted the open prairie into cultivated homesteads and established what later became known as the Pleasant Grove community. Grandma Elliott was converted and joined the Christian church when but a girl. When the United Brethren church was organized, Grandpa and Grandma Elliott’s names were the first on the roll. In 1901 Mr. and Mrs. Elliott moved to Guthrie, Okla., later going to Tulsa. It was while here that Grandma Elliott passed into the life beyond, about fifteen years ago. There were six children born to this union: Josiah J. Elliott, of Oklahoma; Wm. T. and Chas. A. Elliott, deceased; Mrs. Laura J. Keyser of California; Jesse E. Elliott of Florida, and John W. 11283. La Porter (Ind.) Daily Herald, Monday, Nov. 29, 1920.] Rev. A. B. Buckner, 63, of Union Mills, was killed last night at 5:55, when a Grand Trunk freight train, said not to have any headlights, ran over him at the crossing in Union Mills. His body was not found until two hours later, when his failure to appear at services of the Federated church, aroused the suspicions of the congregation … found him dead at the crossing. A few seconds before the accident, Dr. R. B. Short, of Union Mills, saw Rev. Mr. Buckner 100 feet north of the tracks, leaving the house of Perry Shoemaker, where he usually got his milk, and was walking south towards the railroad crossing …. According to Short, the freight train was going west, but it is believed that there may have been two trains …. He was pastor of the Federated church at Union Mills …. A brother of the decedent, living at Aurora, Neb., today wired that he was enroute to Union Mills and would arrive in time for the funeral. The decedent had four brothers, all having been ministers, but the other three are dead. The Rev. Alfred B. Buckner was born in Schuyler county, Mo., Feb. 19, 1863. His first wife died in 1905. His second wife, who when he was married to her November 2, was Mrs. Anna Miller, who was a teacher in Indianapolis, and had been divorced from her first husband 25 years ago. The Holton Recorder, December 9, 1920.*

The LaPorte, Indiana, Daily Herald is seeking to clear up the matrimonial affairs of the late Dr. A. B. Buckner …. The Rev. A. B. Buckner who was recently killed at Union Mills by a Grand Trunk train, had three living wives from whom he was not divorced; a fourth wife had died, according to the letter received today by the Herald from Margaret Drake Buckner of Holton Kansas. At the time of the minister’s death it was given out that one wife, to whom he had been married but a short time, survived, and he had been a widower when he married her. Mrs. Buckner of Holton, Kansas, included a letter from the Rev. A. T. Briggs of the First Methodist church, LaPorte, which says a brother of the Rev. Mr. Buckner after his death told Dr. Briggs, “of the fact you have stated in your letter, and very much deplored the checkered career of his brother.” When Dr. Briggs married Dr. Buckner and his last wife he told Dr. Briggs that he had been married once and that this wife was dead …. A later issue of the Harold contains the following: “If the claims of Mrs. Margaret Drake Buckner of Holton, Kans., are correct, or the statements of the late Dr. Buckner’s brother are correct, one of the two or three divorced widows of the late Union Mills minister is entitled to the estate, and only one. And it should be remembered that the rights to the estate include the right to sue the Grand Trunk railroad company for damages for the death of the Union Mills pastor …. The Holton Recorder, January 20, 1921.*

11284. After a separation of over half century, Warren S. Clark, of Des Moines, Iowa, and his long missing brother, Arthur, whom he had last seen as a child of six, are now enjoying a reunion at the Methodist hospital in Hutchison. Arthur’s mother died when he was adopted by Mrs. Watts. Some time after the Watt’s family moved to Kansas, located near Holton, and the Clark’s moved to Ottumwa, Ia. In the meantime Arthur’s real father lost track of the Watts family. In those days communications were not so easy to maintain, and, when, in time, Madison Clark died at Ottumwa, Iowa, he was unable to find any trace of his younger son. Young Watts grew up believing he was Mrs. Watt’s son and it was not until after he was married that he found out different …. The above is gleaned from a lengthy account of the strange incidents published in the Hutchinson News last August. The Holton Recorder, December 9, 1920.*

In your last week’s issue I noticed the article “Stranger Than Fiction.” concerning which I would like to say a few things, as I am a member of the Watts family mentioned therein. Arthur’s family and mine lived in the same neighborhood in Bureau county, Ill. His mother died when he was nine days old. My mother lost a little babe soon afterward. Hearing that the Clark’s did not expect to raise their baby, as no food would agree with him, she expressed the desire to take him herself. Her request was gladly granted. My father wrote out a contract in which Clark gave up all right to the child, my parents to raise him as their own and give to him at the age of 21, if he remained with them until then, a team and $100 cash. The Clarks moved to Iowa long before we left Illinois and although we lived in the same home until '74, we never heard from them again. After we moved to Kansas our address could have been easily obtained from our former neighbors, with whom we corresponded. We remained many years in the same locality. Arthur was never deceived about his parentage. I well remember my mother often talking to him during his childhood about his own mother in Heaven. She sent for him while on her deathbed that she might make one more appeal to him to make his peace with God, not to confess a wrong to him. I wish the many papers that have been publishing the article, would copy this.
